

Hardi Meybaum

Hardi Meybaum is a natural born entrepreneur. From 2009 to 2014, Hardi built GrabCAD into the world's leading cloud-based collaboration platform for engineering teams to manage, share and view CAD files. He sold GrabCAD to Stratasys (NASDAQ: SSYS) in 2014, and continued to lead GrabCAD for the next year. Hardi spent time advising founders as a mentor and angel investor, and discovered that he loves engaging with entrepreneurs and helping them figure out difficult issues. Having felt the pain and difficulties of being a founder, Hardi understands what founders are going through, from the lows to the highs of turning a great idea into a successful company. Hardi is based in our Cambridge office and invests nationally across all areas of IT. He has a particular interest in vertical communities, hardware, and B2B SaaS.